

What We Believe and How We Do It:

We believe in the power of community.

We host and encourage autism-friendly and inclusive events, and we partner with organizations that serve individuals on the spectrum and their families so that together, we can build more equitable and inclusive communities.

We believe that education dissolves disparity.

We train and educate professionals and paraprofessionals who interface with individuals on the spectrum, and provide them with practical, research-based methods and techniques that enrich and expand the services they provide.

We believe that families that have been touched by autism deserve a voice.

We advocate for families whose adult children with autism have aged out of the system of services so that they can continue to receive support.

Help support autism acceptance, education, awareness, advocacy and most importantly, enable us to assist families living with autism.

Consider making a donation or sponsoring one of our events on our website at www.wholespectrumautism.org/donate/

Your donations allow families with members on the spectrum to receive support and attend events that help them feel the support and love of the community.

My name is Sherry Singh and this is me with my son Ravi.

He is the center of my universe and his smile lights up my world. My work with Whole Spectrum Autism is inspired by him and that smile.

Ravi was diagnosed with autism at the age of 4 and is 37 years old today. He, and a number of adults on the spectrum, face significant social, communication, and behavioral challenges daily. There is a distinct lack of support services to equip them with the knowledge and skills needed to live their lives outside of home. More programs and funding are needed for these adults.

I founded Whole Spectrum Autism to create additional resources to help our loved ones live as fully as possible.

Whole Spectrum Founder Sherry Singh has been personally funding and hosting the annual Toy Giveaway in Downtown JC since 2014, providing holiday toys and cheer for hundreds of Hudson County children.
